CONNECTICUT MAY ELECT GOVERNOR FOR SENATE JOB

Unprecedented Situation Comes Up With Election to Name Senator

HOLT IS DEMOCRAT

Bingham, Lieut. Governor and Governor Elect Out For Seat

(By the Associated Press)
HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 15.—When the Republican and Democratic state conventions nominated Col. Hiram Bingham and Hamilton Holt on Nov. 25 as candidates for the United States senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Frank B. Brandegee, an unprecedented situation was created in Connecticut. Col. Bingham, recently resigned a professorship of history in Yale University, is lieutenant-governor and governor-elect and, in event of election Dec. 16, will be in addition senator-elect. The problem then will be: Would he resign as lieutenant governor and qualify as United States senator and not appear Jan. 7 to take the oath of office as governor, or would he be inaugurated as governor and immediately resign to go to Washington to be sworn in as senator? Col. Bingham has said only that he is preparing for his inauguration as governor.

The succession in office should Col. Bingham resign after becoming governor, and the general assembly be organized for the 1925 session, is fixed by the constitution. The lieutenant governor automatically becomes governor, and the president pro tempore of the senate will be acting lieutenant governor. Hamilton Holt, who was given Democratic nomination because no other Democrat cared to contest for the place, was formerly editor of The Independent, and has been a summer resident of Woodstock, Conn. Last summer he qualified as an elector in that town. He sought the nomination despite unequalled pluralities of Republican candidates for national and state officers at the election earlier in the month, figures which made party leaders unsuccessful in their search for a veteran campaigner to make the run against the Republican candidate. Mr. Holt has been an advocate of the League of Nations, and the principles and policies of the late President Wilson. In his address accepting the nomination Mr. Holt said he entered the campaign without a pledge to any man, and he was ready "to unite with good men and women of whatever creed or party to bring about the greatest good of the greatest number."

The nomination of Mr. Bingham was preceded by a contest between the Republican organization under State Chairman J. Henry Borahack, and factions which advocated the promotion of either Congressman John O. Tilson of the Connecticut third district, who has served 16 years, and Congressman Schuyler Merritt of the fourth district, who went to the house in 1917.

In the September convention which nominated Mr. Bingham for governor many of those who later opposed him for the senatorial nomination were then opposed to him, and centered on another candidate. This contest, however, did not go upon the floor, as rather than jeopardize the state in its endorsement of the national party ticket, objection to Col. Bingham was not expressed in a ballot and he was nominated for governor and subsequently elected.

Criticism followed acceptance by Col. Bingham of the nomination of senator while yet governor-elect and lieutenant governor. In his acceptance speech the nominee said he recognized his election as governor by the people to be a call to duty, and he also recognized the right, under the existing system of representative government, of the delegated representatives of the Republican party to ask him to take the senatorial nomination as duty.

Col. Bingham was long at Yale as a professor, specializing in South American history. In the late war he entered the Air Service and rose to command the largest aviation camp of the American forces in France. While on duty he crashed with a plane and was seriously hurt the recovery from his injuries being slow. He is still a sufferer from the after effects of war service, and northern winters are very trying to his health. In his friends see a reason for his preference for the duties of senator, in case of election, rather than for the arduous executive, administrative and social duties over a two-year period as governor.

Railroad Station Robbed

ENID, Dec. 15.—The Rock Island station at Dover was robbed last night making the fourth Rock Island station to be entered by robbers within a week's time.

MUTILATING OUR FORESTS.

Complaints have come to The News that seekers for Christmas trees are ruining the forests of this section. The country near the new bridge on the Canadian river seems to be the special spot picked out for mutilation.

Not content with cutting the best cedar in sight, many cut one, throw it away and then cut others. In some cases a large beautiful cedar is ruined by the top being taken out.

At best our forests are not beautiful, but when our best citizens, thoughtlessly, cut away the only beautiful evergreens we have, it is time for a halt to be called.

We believe any citizen, when he thinks about the matter in the right light, will abstain from defacing our hillsides and valleys by taking away the cedars, even though their use does bring joy to the kiddies. There are some things too sacred for commercialism or for use on sacred occasions.

WINTRY WEATHER IN NORTH STATES

Zero Weather Reported in Canada; New York State in Snow Wrap

(By the Associated Press)
TORONTO, Dec. 15.—Zero weather prevailed today in Canada with a continuance of the cold wave predicted.

Calgary reported 24 degrees below zero and Quebec had the lowest temperature in the East with mercury hovering around a below.

The gale which brought the cold wave out of the Northwest caused only minor accidents to the fleets of grain carriers on the lakes. Heavy snows and stinging winds from the north caused drifts at many places in Georgian bay region sufficient to impede motor traffic.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 15.—White landscape in endless succession greeted central and northern New York today after the first widespread snow storm of the season which started yesterday and continued today.

Swept along by a 60-mile wind in some places the storm hindered highway and railroad traffic. In Albany the snow was six inches deep. In Madison county there was more than a foot of snow.

High wind was the chief reason for destruction by fire of the plant of the New York Cleaners, Inc., at Fulton causing a loss estimated at $500,000.

At Buffalo H. W. Hornke of Cleveland, captain of the fish tug Helene and his crew of six men are recovering from exhaustion suffered while lost on Lake Erie. They rode out a gale at anchor 10 miles off shore from the first night until early yesterday when they were blown on the beach near Angola 30 miles from Buffalo.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 15.—The second cold wave of the season sweeping down from the northwest is due to reach Oklahoma tonight, according to the United States weather bureau here, and will bring the mercury down as low as 10 degrees above zero by tomorrow night, in some parts of the state. Rain and probably snow were forecast to accompany the icy blast.

The bureau issued livestock warning for tonight and also urged precaution against bursted water pipes.

The cold blast which is enroute to Oklahoma has produced temperatures ranging from zero to 24 degrees below in Canada, according to the bureau. At Helena, Mont., the mercury took an abrupt drop from 65 degrees yesterday to 2 below this morning.

CHURCHMEN PREPARE TO BOOST CULPEPPER MEET

At a meeting held at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, a preliminary organization was effected for the forthcoming community revival to be conducted by Rev. Burd Culpepper.

Forty church workers were present at this meeting and together with the pastors discussed plans for the revival and appointed several committees to look after various phases of the work. Members of the committees will begin actual work immediately in connection with preparations for the meeting and will be joined on December 27 by Mr. Sisserson, advance man for Rev. Culpepper.

Rev. Culpepper will arrive January 4, to begin the revival. He is one of the most successful evangelists of the present time. Recent important revivals which he has conducted were in Washington, D. C., and Kansas City, Mo.

One hundred and thirty-five high schools are enrolled in the Oklahoma High School Debate league.

Find Looseness in Revenue Bureau in Report of Committee

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Chairman Couzens of the special senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, declared in a statement today that the committee had found "much looseness in the execution of the work" resulting in the apparent loss of "millions of dollars of revenue to the government."

"In some of these cases," the chairman declared, "the department officials have admitted errors and while the committee charges no dishonesty, it finds much looseness in the execution of the work."

KIWANIANS HOLD FEAST UP TOWN

Varied Matters Taken Up By Club at Regular Meeting Uptown

Members of the Kiwanis club moved uptown to feast and discussed matters of interest at their noonday luncheon today, when they assembled at the Home Dining room.

The club heard an interesting report of the activities of the Salvation Army in the state in a talk by Mr. Norton, representative of the Army at Oklahoma City. President R. T. Blackburn appointed a committee from the club to meet with Representative Norton in dealing with local work.

A vote was adopted by the club to order a vote of thanks for members of the cast of "Kathleen," the Kiwanis club play in which they participated.

E. A. Steanson was winner of the attendance prize offered by the Model Clothiers, which will be presented at the next meeting of the club. Hugh Norris was presented with a box of cigars, which he drew at the last meeting of the club.

FRISCO CITIZENS PLAN TO CARE FOR CEMETERY

The citizens of Frisco and vicinity held a mass meeting recently and perfected a permanent organization to care for the Frisco cemetery. A board of trustees was elected and steps will be taken at once to raise some money. This will be done by means of donations and by giving a pie supper.

The board is composed of Dr. G. H. Truax, Mrs. James Patton and J. T. Hoggatt. Dr. Truax is treasurer and Mr. Hoggatt secretary. Anyone wishing to make a donation should send his money to Dr. Truax. Those who have relatives buried in this cemetery are especially urged to help in the cause.

Mr. Hoggatt states that some little money will be needed at the outset to thoroughly clean up and put the plot in first class condition, but that after that not much will be required. The organization is intended to be permanent and will look after the work from year to year with a view of keeping this little city of the dead in a presentable condition.

Trade Balance Favorable

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Exports from the United States during November amounted to $495,000,000 compared with imports of $296,000,000 leaving a trade balance favorable to the United States of $199,000,000.

Shawnee Doctor Sober When He Saw Elephants

SHAWNEE.—A prominent physician of Shawnee, but of course we would not be so unethical as to tell his name, while returning from Ada one night recently in his car, had a hair raising experience. While driving along as near asleep as he dared to be and keep his Lincolnette out of the ditch, he was suddenly confronted by a huge black object which appeared as big as a house, squarely in the middle of the road. On drawing to one side, the doctor's amazement can be imagined when an honest to goodness and no kidding elephant ambled ploddingly past him.

And not only one elephant but another and still a third and two or three camels. To make a long story short and relieve the suspense, the doctor had met up with the animal show of "Honest Bill Newton," a small circus which winters at Ada and makes small towns during the fall and winters when the weather permits.

The only trouble is that the doctor made the mistake of telling the story to his acquaintances who do not happen to know Honest Bill, and insist on knowing just what brand of corn the doctor had been sampling on the night in question.

EMPLOYMENT FOR STATE IMPROVED

Large Cities in State Report Improved Improvement Conditions

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 15.—Employment conditions in Oklahoma were somewhat improved during November, according to the monthly report of the United States department of labor, issued through the employment service bureau.

Virtually all industries in the state reported larger numbers of workers employed, although a "surplus of labor still obtains in the oil fields," the bureau said.

"A slight increase in the forces engaged in coal mining was reported and a more promising outlook for the industry exists," the report continued.

Cotton gins and cotton seed oil mills are running full capacity and with increased forces, lumber mills in the eastern part of the state are on full time schedules and little surplus of labor has been reported to Washington. Highway construction continues to afford employment to a large number of workers and the farm labor situation is "very satisfactory."

In the four larger cities of the state, the bureau report said: "Tulsa—Industrial employment conditions are improving. Building very active and labor fairly well employed, with the exception of those workers usually employed in the oil fields of which some surplus exists."

Muskogee—Most plants on full time schedule, but surplus of labor reported in many industries.

Enid—All plants are operating, some with reduced forces and a surplus of unskilled labor is evident. The closing of a large wholesale house affected several hundred male and female workers.

Parties Injured In Saturday Crash Not Seriously Hurt

Mrs. B. C. Grey and H. Killion, who were injured when a Ford car in which they were riding plunged from the highway near Lulu and turned over in a ditch, are reported not seriously injured today.

Mrs. Gray, according to local physicians, suffered several broken ribs and other bruises but is out of danger of internal injuries they believe.

Killion, who was driver of the car, was unable to be taken to his home today owing to the painfulness of his injuries.

The car with seven occupants was returning to Lulu after attending a religious meeting here.

Auto Accident Toll Takes Slump During Week-end, Reported

The list of motor accidents during the week-end was reduced to the lowest ebb for several weeks, when only two accidents could be traced for accounting.

The two accidents reported for the week-end brought a number of victims to Ada hospital for treatment. An accident near Lulu when several persons were injured and another Sunday night in Ada when a Purcell man suffered injuries were the only ones reported.

Local garages did not have record of any accidents during the week-end.

CROMWELL VIEWS LOSS FROM FIRE RAVAGES

(By the Associated Press)

CROMWELL, Dec. 15.—Cromwell today was raking away the ashes from its $200,000 fire of Sunday and was pushing with vigor the construction of new buildings to replace those, which were destroyed in the flames that wiped out three business blocks.

The fire started at several places simultaneously and the belief is general that the disaster was the work of fire bugs. No arrests, however, had been made early today.

When the flames were discovered early yesterday citizens turned out for several hours they fought with dynamite and water and heavy oil field trucks were used to drag away the flame buildings to create a gap in the path of the fire.

The city today was connected with the outside by only a few meager wires, telephone calls being limited in service.

About a week ago fire destroyed approximately $125,000 worth of property. Little insurance offset the loss in either fire as the rates were so high that virtually none was carried.

Among the buildings destroyed were the Kraker Mercantile company, Palace theater, Cromwell Mercantile company, Cromwell garage, Pastime club, Oil Flyer cafe, Leader Dry Goods company, Seminole filling station, McAlister Drug company, Tulsa cafe, Sanitary bakery, Olympic theater and dance hall, White Way dance hall, Frederickson hotel, Banner Oil company and the offices of several physicians.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 15.—No report had been received early in the afternoon from John Carroll, assistant state fire marshal, who went to Cromwell to investigate.

Business of Tax Collection Now Improved, Claimed

The annual interview between the tax payer and county treasurer is getting headway and will become more pronounced from now until January 1, the date set by law for the penalty to be applied.

Treasurer Westbrook states that his office has already issued some $800 receipts on 1924 taxes and has also collected considerable on delinquent taxes which were unpaid during the strenuous times through which the county has passed.

Indications, he says, point to much better collections this year than for the past three or four.

Turkeys have brought many thousands of dollars to breeders of this county this fall. People raised a lot of them and while the price has not been what it was two years ago, a turkey brought enough to make it worth while to raise him. Several cars have been shipped from the county and hundreds eaten here.

WOODROW WILSON PAID TRIBUTE IN SERVICES TODAY

Congress Pauses to Eulogize Deeds of Great American

SCHOOL MATE TALKS

Wheels of Government Halts While Tribute is Paid To War President

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Congress paused in its activity today to render honor to the memory of Woodrow Wilson.

The chamber of the house of representatives was the setting for the memorial services with Dr. Edwin Anderson Alderman of the Wilson alma mater, the University of Virginia, pronouncing from the rostrum the eulogy on the life of Mr. Wilson.

Dignitaries of state, politicians of the past and present, close friends of the late chief executive and invited guests made up the gathering for which all space on the floor and galleries had been reserved. A vast unseen audience, too, had been remembered in arrangements for radio-casting the ceremony throughout the wide chain of states.

President Coolidge and cabinet members, supreme court justices, representatives of foreign governments, members of the Wilson cabinet and high officers of the army and navy were among those joining with the members of the senate and house to commemorate the man who sleeps "neath the towering cathedral spire in distant view of the nation's capital."

The program for the ceremony was simple. Early the great white capital gave evidence that it was a day apart. Its halls hushed and machinery was stilled. In the morning only members and those having urgent business within were admitted. Half past ten was time for the opening of the east doors leading to the rotunda to admit those accorded the privilege of sitting within the chamber.

Both the senate and house were called to convene a little before the noon hour, the time of the ceremony. Members of the senate after the prayer recessed to go to the house chamber. The marine band furnished music and assembled in the house shortly before noon.

There Senator Cummins as president pro tempore of the senate, occupied the speaker's chair and the ceremony began with a prayer offered by Rev. James S. Montgomery, chaplain of the house introduction of Dr. Alderman by the president and his address in eulogy of the late president was followed with the benediction of the Rev. J. J. Muir, chaplain of the senate, closing the program.

Leaders had planned to adjourn both house and senate after the ceremony in Mr. Wilson's memory. Three of the late president's immediate family, Mrs. Wilson, his daughter, Margaret Wilson and his brother J. R. Wilson of Baltimore were present for the ceremony. His other two daughters, Mrs. William G. McAdoo and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, who is abroad were unable to attend.

J. Randolph Bolling brother of Mrs. Wilson and secretary to his brother-in-law when he retired to private life from the White House also joined Mrs. Wilson in attendance. Missing from among the associates of the late president attending were former Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, General Pershing, who is on a South American diplomatic mission, and William G. McAdoo, his son-in-law. Mr. McAdoo, in writing his regrets characterized Mr. Wilson as "one of the most notable of American statesmen and the leading humanitarian of the modern world."

Washington, Dec. 15.—Gov. M. E. Trapp, Senator J. W. Harold and Representative W. W. Hastings of Oklahoma called on President Coolidge today. They said the visit was merely one of courtesy.

Three Suspects in Shawnee Jail for Robbery of Bank

(By the Associated Press)

SHAWNEE, Dec. 14.—With a dearth of suspects to investigate, the inquiry into the Federal National bank robbery of last Wednesday marked time today. One man in addition to the two women arrested in Oklahoma City last week was held in jail today in connection with the crime but police said other persons wanted had been "tipped off" and it was improbable that they would be arrested immediately.

One of the women, Helen Marshall, Saturday night identified the clothing of a man whose body was found near Bristow as that of her husband, Joe Marshall, reputed St. Louis run man. The other women is believed by police to be the wife of a man wanted in connection with the robbery. Ashley Hall, Bristow thiner, is in jail at Shawnee having been arrested at Bristow Saturday. Police said he was a relative of one of the men wanted for the robbery.

RECORD HOG SHIPMENT RECEIVED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—By far the greatest number of hogs ever received in Chicago on a single day arrived here this morning, 122,000 with the 8,000 head left over from Saturday unsold made the total on the market equal to a normal three days supply for the packing houses here. Yards were filled with the armies of hogs that were being unloaded and the alleys as well as pens were crowded almost to the point of suffocation. An immediate drop of 25 cents per hundred weight in the price of hogs resulted. Extreme scarcity and high prices of corn was the reason assigned for the extraordinary influx.

FIRE DESTROYS ONE OF HUGO'S OLDEST HOUSES

HUGO, Dec. 15.—One of the last landmarks of Hugo went up in smoke when the old Billy Spratz residence was destroyed by fire. It was owned by W. E. Terry, who carried insurance. The house has been standing 50 years. It was built by Spring, a Choctaw Indian, who died in 1906.

A water well on the property supplied drinking water to many Hugo residents in the early days, and when the present water system was temporarily out of commission, residents obtained water from the well.

BERLIN.—With the stabilizing of Germany's finances the practice of tipping street and bus conductors has returned. It is customary among many passengers paying fare of 15 or 20 pfennigs to give the conductor a tip of five pfennigs, which he is supposed to divide with the motorman.

FURLORN HOUSE WAS SCENE OF CENTER OF GAYETY FOR CHEROKEE NATION YEARS AGO

(By the Associated Press)

TABLEQUAH, Dec. 15.—Weather-beaten and forlorn, a massive frame building, center of gayety in the Cherokee nation before the Civil war and during the war, the depository of fire-cherished Cherokee charter, stands today a deserted house.

The windows are broken and stuffed with rags, the covering of the porch hangs in tattered pieces and what was once the hub of society in eastern Oklahoma now is a bleak, neglected wreck—a crumbling monument to a day long gone in the vivid history of Oklahoma.

But it may not remain so. An effort is on foot to purchase the property from the present owners and to restore to the building the throbbing spirit that died when the clouds of war sprang over the nation in 1861. The renewed estate would be perpetuated as a historic relic.

The "Old Murrell place" as it is familiarly known by the early settlers at Park Hill, about six miles from Tablequah, was erected before the memory of any settlers in the neighborhood. The date when it was built is not known exactly, but the house was the first real southern home built in the new country after the "Trail of Tears" had been blazed from Georgia by the Cherokees in 1839. The residence contains 10 large rooms with a basement and attic.

George M. Murrell, owner and builder of the magnificent house, was a sugar and tobacco planter of New Orleans, mentioned in history during the Civil war. He owned extensive lands in Virginia, and, although a white man, married a young Indian girl of the Cherokee tribe. He came with her, through necessity, when the Cherokees were moved from the southern territory to eastern Oklahoma. Authorities differ as to the name of the family from which the girl came. John B. Staper, an old-time settler of Tablequah says that most probably the girl was a member of the old Vann family of the Cherokee tribe, but others claim that Murrell's wife was a niece of Chief Ross of the Cherokees.

In Virginia Murrell owned a summer home on a large plantation. A lover of sports, he lived during the summer months seeking pleasure. When he came with his wife to the Cherokee country, he saw in the newly discovered lands a wonderful hunting ground and with this in mind he chose the spot where the decaying structure now stands as the site for his summer home.

Patterning after his summer home in Virginia, Murrell began plans for building before returning to New Orleans, his winter home. Having no native timber except pine, oak and walnut, and without machinery or an architect, Murrell shipped maple from the south out of which the home was built, landing it during high water at Port Gibson where it was sent overland to Park Hill. Although the main building material came from New Orleans, much of the finished maple came from Europe and all the hardware and furniture in the house was made in Germany.

The materials of which the home was constructed were the most durable. The plaster made with a heavy content of cement, and three-fourths of an inch thick, has for the most part withstood the encroachment of the years for nearly a century. The frame of the building is hewn of logs of seasoned oak and according to the present owner, who is an architect, the foundation as it now stands would support a 10-story brick building.

All the barns and outhouses are of walnut.

In the spacious dining room, reminding of the cost of the dwelling and the taste of its owner, one finds a border, painted by an artist probably obtained in the south, depicting an early day hunt. The border, still distinct, outlines with clarity coat of arms. The only one of these looks known in existence is in the possession of Charles A. Thompson of Waggoner.

The house was not only the first building of merit in the Cherokee country, but it was also something of a bank in the early days. In the dark, spacious basement, there was secreted, not only the Cherokee tribal charter, but wills and important documents. Only a few years ago $500 in currency was found there by an inquisitive visitor.

The estate of 600 acres that surrounded the house was as interesting as the house itself. The house became the center of a colony. There were kennels for Murrell's dogs and large stables for his thoroughbred horses. Old settlers say there were from 50 to 75 slaves always about the place.

Water was obtained for the house by slaves who carried it by hand from a well in a large elevated tank. From there it flowed by gravity through pipes to the house.

Much of the damage to the house was caused by southern soldiers who looted the house during the war, notwithstanding the fact that Murrell was a southerner and had equipped a regiment of colored troops at his own expense. The soldier weight and once bore marks of destruction and carrying and bearing the official

Oil News

The Slick well in section 18-6-7, Seminole county, is drilling at more than 2,800 feet in blue limestone. Reports that this well had a showing of oil and gas several days ago proved incorrect, as there has been no showing, according to a statement of the driller on the job. Considerable activity is evident in the lower end of Seminole, there being many wells under construction, some of which are reaching the deeper regions.

Ray Allen of Lovelady has been advised that he won sixth honors at the International Livestock show at Chicago in the Duroc Jersey ton litter contest. The hogs were not on exhibition there but the records of the contestants were judged. Ray's premium will be $25. His pigs weighed in the neighborhood of 2,200 pounds when 180 days old.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THY SUN shall no more go down; neither shall the moon withdraw itself: for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and the days of thy mourning shall be ended.—Isaiah 60:20.

HAVE A HEART

There are not so many shopping days before Christmas as there were when first you were asked to do your Christmas buying early, and there is no hope that the number is going to increase between now and mid-night of the twenty-fourth. Nor will prices be reduced; nor will the quality of the goods now on the shelves increase. So why linger and delay?

Perhaps there are those who believe that "Do your Christmas shopping early" is a slogan devised by merchants who thought they would sell more goods if people bought early, and then took thought, and discovered that there was more buying they ought to do. But while that doubtless occurred to the merchants, it was not by any means the controlling motive that inspired the shop-early propaganda which greets us annually.

The fact is, the request for early Christmas shopping came, first, chiefly from the postoffice, the express companies, the railroads and the sales and delivery people, all of whom found themselves swamped by a tidal wave that hit them suddenly and left them devastated. Some way had to be found for controlling this tide, for distributing its volume. So an attempt was made to educate the public into buying early and shopping early.

The fear of the merchant is not so much that his sales will not reach the hoped-for peak as that his future will be jeopardized. There is nothing that so disrupts a carefully-built organization as the overstrain of the two or three days—and nights—of hurried and harried labor before Christmas. Clerks break down; some of them leave; others are not fit again for some time, and meanwhile system goes to the dogs and the sales machine has to be built. Customers, too, offended by some frazzled employee, get sore and vow never to trade there again. So the merchant, desiring too serve his public well, asks the public to help him do so by distributing Christmas buying over as long a period as possible.

So it behooves the public, since it wants good service, to remember that the chief element in that service is the human element and that the human machine breaks under undue strain just like any piece of machinery. And because there is a human element involved, and because Christmas is a time for special charity to all humans, it is only reasonable that shoppers and shippers be considerate of the store clerk, the postal employee and the servants of the express companies and railways. They want to enjoy Christmas, too. Why make the Yuletide hateful to them? Have a heart. Do your Christmas shopping early.—Okmulgee Democrat.

"Get out of the rut," an exchange advises. This is a very timely warning for it is a trait of human character to take the path of least resistance. The fellows who accomplish something out of the ordinary are the ones who climb out of the rut. Certainly no one who is content to remain in it ever accomplished anything. It is not always easy to get out, either, for it takes hard brain work to do this and that is something not many are willing to put forth. Thomas A. Edison was one of several thousand telegraph operators in his younger days. He used his brain and climbed out of the rut while most of the others sat at the key the remainder of their lives.

The Pontotoc County Poultry association will hold its annual show this week beginning with Thursday. This is an event of more than passing importance for the poultry industry has grown into one of the largest in the United States, hence the need of encouraging the movement for better stuff. Pontotoc county has made excellent progress in recent years and some good flocks of birds are to be found here. We hope to see still more. We hope to see a keen interest taken in the coming show.

With the return of prosperous times the smooth stock salesman can be counted on to make his appearance in great numbers, like a swarm of grasshoppers devouring the fruit of the people's toil. The American people have been repeatedly warned of to fallacy of believing that any set of men are going about to make others rich, but they will probably continue to fall for smooth talk as long as time lasts. The trouble is that the American is too anxious to make his pile quickly. He cannot be content to take things gradually.

The state budget of Oklahoma has been cut some $12,000 by Ben Harrison, budget officer, who has been working on the estimates put in by various branches of state government. These totaled some $35,000,000 and even with the cut, already made it is said that the state will have hard work to make ends meet. It must also be remembered that the legislature is yet to act on the recommendations of Mr. Harrison and it is by no means certain that the amount of appropriations will be left within the limit named by Harrison.

HIS MONUMENT!

The Forum of the Press

Backward Britain
(New York Times)

We may speak of hands across the sea and of the peace of the world in the keeping of the Anglo-Saxons, but England's ways are really not our ways. For instance, a definite insular prejudice against murder as a form of self-expression continues to form part of the British temper. A petition signed by 90,000 residents of Hull and presented by the Lord Mayor failed to secure a commutation of sentence for a young war veteran convicted of murdering his woman companion. The execution took place while a great multitude outside the prison gates sang hymns. The multitude, however, abstained from riot.

Once more, therefore, a British home secretary has demonstrated how amazing behindhand is the British people in the domain of applied science. In the realm of pure scientific thought England does very well, as a list of names from Newton through Darwin and Huxley to Rayleigh, Rutherford, Lankester amply testifies. But when it comes to making practical use of science for the purpose of securing homicide acquittals from juries or commutations from executives, England simply is not there. England is the home of Galton, Pearson, Havelock Ellis and many other eminent social-psychologists; but she apparently knows nothing about demerit, brain storms, emotional thunderbolts, hereditary taints, environmental handicaps and other triumphs of science which are so regularly manifested in this country when somebody has shot or poisoned somebody else. The solid British temperament clings to the view that as between the slayer and the slain the blame is likely to rest with the former.

It is an attitude which may be described by a broader formula. In Great Britain there still obtains a formidable prejudice in favor of the view that a law means something. If the English people prefer rule-of-thumb progress to revolution, the reason may be found in this ingrained belief that the enactment of a law carries with it a certain obligation of obedience. British hostility to prohibition is not wholly to be explained by the national passion for personal liberty. The reason may be in part British respect for the law. Enactment of prohibition by Parliament would carry with it, to the average British mind, the implication that people ought to abstain from selling and buying liquor. This is an attitude fairly hard to grasp by a people which thinks that 14,000 laws every year by Congress and the Legislatures are not too many, provided every new law is regarded as prima facie unenforceable.

TWO MONUMENTS BUILT TO MEMORY OF PIONEERS

(By the Associated Press)

TAHLEQUAH, Dec. 15.—Two monuments, identical in size and material, to the memory of two benefactors to the Cherokee Indians, grace the campus of the Northeastern State Teachers College here. One recalls the work of Chief John Ross, who, as leader of the tribe, for 40 years, sought to improve the educational facilities of the race. The other is to the memory of Miss Florence Wilson, who came to Tahlequah soon after the Civil war, as a teacher in a public school. In 1875 Miss Wilson was elected principal of the Cherokee Female Seminary. She devoted much of her time to educational work among the Cherokees.

The two monuments are built from the brick of the old Cherokee seminary which was destroyed by fire. McCloud—Good headway being made by Day Oil company on Howell No. 1 well, southeast of here.

MURDER WITH A VENGEANCE

FLORENCE, Ariz.—Charged with violating the state prohibiting mutilation of the dead without authority of law, Warden Robert Sims of the Arizona state penitentiary was at liberty Saturday on his own recognizance pending a hearing in justice court.

The complaint upon which the arrest was based was filed following a gruesome story of alleged mutilation and head hunting, told by Mrs. E. C. Howard, wife of a prisoner in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Howard's story came, she said, from a number of eyewitnesses, including several convicts and guards.

She accused Sims of superintending opening the graves containing bodies of Paul V. Hadley and Theodore West, who were executed during the past year for murder.

The ends of the coffins were sawed off, Mrs. Howard alleged, and the bodies decapitated.

Afterward, the skulls were placed on exhibition in the warden's office as interesting specimens of phrenology.

Logical and criminological Directory

Mrs. Howard, was recently released from the Pinal county jail on a writ of habeas corpus following her imprisonment in connection with an alleged plot to smuggle arms to her husband. Howard, charged with being the ring leader of a wholesale prison delivery scheme, has been kept in solitary confinement ever since.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 26.—The city of Knoxville is paying its citizens dividends. The dividends take the form of tax refunds. This year the refund is 10 per cent.

The city manager form of government is given credit for the accomplishment.

"I think any city that now has a government in which partisan politics is a controlling factor, or even a considerable factor, or by the adoption of the city manager form of government, soon enable itself to pay dividends from the economies made possible by the substitution of business methods for political methods in the every day conduct of its affairs," says Knoxville's city manager, Louis Brownlow.

Brownlow was a Washington newspaper man and quit this work nine years ago to become one of the three commissioners of the District of Columbia. His labors brought him the place of city manager of Petersburg, Va., and the wonderful results he accomplished there won his present job.

When City Manager Brownlow had been at the Knoxville helm some months, a surplus was found in the treasury, which in place of becoming a temptation for increased public expenditures or political melon-cutting, was handed back to the tax payers.

PROF. PARKER DESCRIBES SUMMER VACATION TRIP

To describe a trip or tour through fourteen states and a portion of Canada is no small task; especially is it difficult if one attempts to reproduce the scenery and sights observed together with the everlasting impressions and valuable lessons obtained on such trips.

Paved roads in the Eastern states now make it possible to travel several hundred miles each day regardless of weather conditions. I regret to say that we found our worst roads in Oklahoma and Missouri. After leaving St. Louis, we drove on pavement to Dayton, Columbus, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, N. Y., Niagara Falls and Hamilton, Canada. We found gravel and paved roads between Hamilton and Port Hudson with pavement to Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul, Minnesota.

After checking our mileage we discovered that we traveled on about 2000 miles of pavement, near 1200 miles of good roads, and on an equal number of miles of common dirt highways.

As one travels East, he is doubtless impressed with the great commercial enterprises and the volume of business that necessarily has to be handled.

Among the large manufacturing centers visited might be mentioned The National Cash Register Company, The Shredded Wheat Factory, Ford Motor Company, and some of the large Packing Plants.

In every successful factory, education has had an important part. The partnership feeling and ideal working conditions maintained for the employees, in my opinion, is what is needed to settle all strife and ill feeling among the laboring people.

The leaders and managers of the large industries realize that education is the solution of their problems, and we should not let up in our work until such conditions as mentioned above will be the general rule in industry and not the exception.

A few years ago people thought very little of touring, and consequently remained at home and did not get acquainted with our vast country. But now good roads with modern conveniences for tourists have brought about a great change. Thousands of tourists can be seen daily, during the summer months en route to some new and distant section of our republic.

I shall not endeavor to describe the wonderful sights to be seen on a tour through the eastern states, but simply ask that you visit the many beautiful spots of our country and see what no one can tell you.

Since one can camp out at night, the traveling expenses are very little, and a trip of 5,000 miles is within the reach of almost anyone who desires to see America First. I might suggest here that our expenses averaged about $45.00 each (this includes gas, oil, car repairs, toll fees, meals at hotels and cafes, etc.)

After returning and reviewing the conditions I am forced to say that I am impressed as never before that progress has been unusually rapid in all lines of activities and is still growing in momentum.

Truly our country is growing bigger and better every year.

SUPERIOR WINE MAKERS AROUSE FIRE IN ARGENTINA

(By the Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES—In a campaign against manufacturers of impure liquors, the Buenos Aires board of health has closed down five large plants producing alleged wines and other beverages. They are said to have used methylated spirits, or ether combined with water and coloring matter. One of the concerns was a heavy advertiser of a brand of wine that never was produced from grapes, but was widely consumed, much to the detriment of the drinkers, according to the authorities. The names of the concerns, published in some newspapers, caused a shock of surprise to many people who had been consuming their products.

SUMMER EXPERIENCES IN NEW YORK CITY

(By Miss B. Alice Francisco)

It is a delightful experience to spend a summer in study in New York City, not only because of the educational advantages offered in Columbia University but because of the environment in which one lives in such a city, which is an education in itself. I have also received added enjoyment from the fact that during both summers which I have spent in New York, the weather has been delightfully cool and that it has been my pleasure to renew acquaintance with a number of former friends as well as to form some worth while new friendships with those having the same professional interests.

The past summer, it was my special pleasure to meet quite a large number of teachers from the East Central District and rather an unusual number of the East Central College faculty, both present and former members, who were studying in Teachers College Columbia University. Mr. J. M. Gordon, former president of East Central and his son Harold were both studying in the university during the summer and expect to continue their study during the entire year of 1924 and 1925. The entire Gordon family, with the exception of Maurice, will make their home in New York during this time.

Miss Helen A. Turner, former teacher of Fine Arts at East Central, was also studying in Teachers College, during the summer. Since leaving Oklahoma five years ago, Miss Turner has located in New Jersey, teaching one year in East Orange and the past four years in Grantwood, where she will return this fall as supervisor of Art in the public schools. During the summer of 1923 Miss Turner taught in the State Normal School at Denton, Texas.

Miss Anna C. Paxton, former critic teachers in the primary department at East Central, received her A. B. degree from Columbia University this spring and did most graduate work this summer. Miss Paxton has changed her line of work since leaving East Central and is now teaching mathematics in the state normal school at Trenton, New Jersey. She and her mother are quite comfortably located in an apartment near the Normal School.

Miss Josephine Clark, former head of the Latin department at East Central, has taught for the past two years at Johnstown, Penn. Although I did not see Miss Clark during the summer, I learned that she was teaching in New Jersey during that time.

Miss Spriggs, teacher of English in the College for so many years, has the distinction of being one of the regular faculty members of the New York City high schools, having taught there the past two years. Although I did not see Miss Spriggs in New York, I stopped in Springfield, Mo., on my way home and spent a day with her and her parents. She finds her work in the city most enjoyable and is in better health now than she has ever been before. While in Springfield, I had the pleasure of meeting Miss Lucy Pepon, again. Miss Pepon and her sister are now making their home in Springfield where Miss Pepon has been teaching for several years in the public schools. During the present year she will teach in a business college in Springfield.

Mrs. J. D. Holmes, former critic teacher in East Central, was a member of the Oklahoma Club this summer, although not a student at Teachers College. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and daughter spent the summer in New York where Mr. Holmes did graduate work in Teachers College. They will make their home in Sapulpa the coming year where Mr. Holmes is superintendent of schools.

Miss Switzer, critic teacher in the seventh and eighth grades of the training school during Mr. Briles' presidency was also a student in Teachers College, although I did not learn where she will teach this year.

With the ones above referred to and including Miss Coffey, Miss Moore and myself (Miss Francisco) East Central faculty, present and former, had a representation of eight at Columbia University the past summer and after the election of officers of the Oklahoma Club, East Central was "it" as shown by the following officers:

Pres., J. M. Gordon, former president of East Central; Vice-President, Funston Gaither, former student at East Central and B. Alice Francisco, present teacher of Home Economics at East Central, was elected secretary.

The United States treasury recently started a campaign to restore the silver dollar by placing one in the pay envelope of each of the 5,000 treasury employees.

NEW STYLE "BOB" SHOWN IN FILM

Are you familiar with the Blanche Sweet "California top," the "Bessie Love Bob" and Warner Baxter "close-cut?"

Absolutely the latest word from Hollywood in shaves, shingles and short-haired coiffures is shown in Thomas H. Ince's new First National drama, "Those Who Dance," now running at the McSwain Theater. The production has caused a tremendous sensation in the "fan" world, because it tells the story of liquor in a fashion that brings out the utmost in dramatic values of the Volstead law. And the fact that the three leading characters of the story (Miss Sweet, Miss Love and Warner Baxter) all submitted to major barber operations for the picture, every one of them introducing a new fad into the film colony as the result of the experiment has increased popular interest.

The making of plaster masks from living faces is superseding photography and portrait-painting in Vienna.

REALTORS PREFER STREET RAILWAYS TO BUS LINES

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 10.—L. F. Eppich, of Denver, former president of the National Association of real estate boards, told the American Electric Railway Association here today that realtors prefer electric railways to other forms of local transportation because they cannot be moved away over night.

Mr. Eppich recently sent a questionnaire, "Busses or Cars," to realtors in many cities and all except one answered "Cars." "Busses may be easily diverted or abandoned, and the value of property substantially reduced," he explained today.

There is a decided place for the bus in local transportation the speaker continued. He and other realtors would like to see street car companies run busses in new territories until traffic warrants laying an electric line. Property owners owners benefitting by new transportation lines should help pay the cost of their installation, he said, and pointed out that recently Detroit voters assessed 51 percent of the cost of new transit lines against the owners of adjoining property. Such a course also had been recommended in other cities.

"SHADOW OF EAST" IS THRILLING AND ROMANTIC DRAMA

A romantic, thrilling, though somewhat sombre tale is "The Shadow of the East"—the photoplay which opens at the American theatre on Monday.

It is about an English earl, Barry Craven, who, like many other Englishmen exiled in India, had secretly taken a beautiful native wife though he still felt the attraction of his own countrywomen.

Much has been written and said about these light loves of the East which men leave so easily, but when Lolare, mad with tempestuous love for the rather unresponsive Englishman and with jealousy for an English girl who was visiting India, finally commits suicide, Barry finds it not so easy to forget.

He returns to England—even marries Gillian Locke—but still the Shadow of the East hangs over him and becomes a barrier between him and all the things he would hold dear.

Unable to bear the torture of it, he goes back at last to aid in a war a young shik is waging against his enemies. He leaves a note telling Gillian the dark secret of his past and his desire for atonement thru death in a war. Gillian follows him to India, and regardless of her own danger, to the very field of battle.

So, in the end, it is her husband whom she hoped to rescue, who rescues her. And then she finds that he no longer is in need of rescuing.

TAHLEQUA, Dec. 15.—Thirty-two varieties of trees grow on the campus of Northeastern States Teachers college here.

Northeastern has a larger variety of trees than any school in the state and probably more than any other college in the country, according to Prof. C. W. Prier, college landscape gardener. Most of them are native growths.

Some of the trees on the campus date back more than a quarter of a century when the college administration building was the Cherokee seminary for girls.

Oaks, cottonwoods, elms, walnuts, willows and birches are the better known species on the campus. Under a huge walnut tree near the library, the senior class each year holds its class supper.

Gold Cask Holds No Terrors For Daring English Princess

(By the Associated Press.)
LONDON.—Princess Marie Louise, King George's cousin, has decided to leave London in February for a month's visit to the gold coast of West Africa, where she will take part in some big game hunting.

Until recent years the gold coast was known as the white man's grave, but owing to the progress which has been made in the conquest of malaria and other tropical diseases, the district is now comparatively healthy.

The princess, who will be accompanied by a woman friend, will go to Accra, the seat of government, as the guest of the local governor.

McIntosh Makes Hard Life for Fraud Bankers

(By the Associated Press.)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 13.—Oklahoma is being made unsafe for the unscrupulous and neglectful banker through the tenacious prosecution of J. T. McIntosh, attorney for the Oklahoma banking department and his assistant W. M. McKenzie.

Within the past two years McIntosh has prosecuted 36 former bankers and officials of the state department, obtaining 34 convictions or admissions of guilt. One man was acquitted and one is awaiting further prosecution, the jury in his case having failed to arrive at a verdict.

The conviction of Charles Martin, Woodward, former chairman of the state banking board, and the admission of guilt by Fred Dennis, former state bank commissioner, are the outstanding achievements of McIntosh and his assistant. Martin was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary, but is free pending an appeal to the criminal court of appeals.

Dennis pleaded guilty December 9 in Chickasha when his demurrer to a charge of conspiracy to defraud was overruled. He was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary and fined $10,000. Dennis now is serving his term.

Charles Engle, former president of the El Reno Commercial state bank, implicated with Dennis in the conspiracy to defraud charge, pleaded guilty to accepting deposits in an insolvent institution and received a two-year sentence.

McIntosh was appointed attorney for the banking department by Governor Walton when Joe Strain was bank commissioner. He continued in office through the turbulent termination of Walton's administration and the bank administration of Dr. E. T. Byrum. The second extraordinary session of the Ninth legislature appropriated funds for an assistant to McIntosh, at the same time increasing his salary. McIntosh formerly was an attorney at Durant. He served two terms in the state senate.

'SHOP EARLY' DEMAND NOT HEARD IN CITY

"Somebody show Santa Claus a shorter route to Ada"—that's what Ada merchants are yelling while the Old Boy continues to avoid the business district of the city.

The "shop early" campaign has not received much attention from Christmas buyers and merchants as a result of this condition are preparing for the rush of the latter part of this week and the few days prior to Christmas to answer the needs of those desiring to purchase gifts.

Ada merchants maintain that the past week, with the exception of Saturday, has been a dull period considering the nearness of December 25th.

Although business at local stores has been lax during the past week, the postoffice received what they considered the opening business of the Christmas holidays.

Baptist Now Own Nuyaka Academy; to Add an Orphanage

(By the Associated Press.)
OKMULGEE.—The Southern Baptist convention has taken over the Nuyaka Baptist academy, near Okmulgee, and immediately will begin operation of the school in co-operation with the Oklahoma Baptist University, according to Dr. J. M. Wiley, one of the founders of the school, and active in affairs connected with the institution since its inception.

This decision was reached at a meeting recently held in Oklahoma City, at which time many matters pertaining to the educational program in the state were discussed. The school was built for the old Nuyaka mission, and was purchased about a year ago by a group of Baptists on the part of the educational board of the Southern Baptist convention in cooperation with the General Baptist convention of Oklahoma.

It is proposed to add an orphanage to the institution which will be southside in service and will provide for a limited number of half orphans.

All standard grades in state schools will be taught in the institution, and the school will be organized into a system of schools that covers the southland, giving the best possible advantages to all student who attend the Nuyaka school. This will be done in the fullest fraternal cooperation with all other schools and agencies doing work along the same line, the Rev. Wiley stated.

Organized missionary and evangelistic work has been carried on among the Indians by Southern Baptists for more than 60 years and has been extended to most of the living tribes. This work has required the expenditure of large sums of money, a part of which is paid annually to Indian preachers.

Tokio Regaining Its People

(By the Associated Press.)
TOKIO.—Tokio has resumed her place as the fifth city of the world, according to a police census taken here recently. After the earthquake in September, 1923, Tokio lost a quarter of her population and dropped behind Berlin. The police enumeration shows that the city now has 1,917,000 inhabitants, a gain of 390,000 from the figures just after the earthquake, but 260,000 less than before the disaster.

It would take nearly 35 years for an airplane, traveling two miles a minute, to fly from the earth to Mars.

Brawny Grid Stars Swing to Dance Now

STILLWATER, Dec. 15.—(Special)—With admission to the Missouri Valley Athletic conference, members of the Oklahoma Aggie football team have taken up aesthetic dancing.

"Shades of Terpsichore," quoth Johnny Maulbetsch, coach when he heard that Flora Mae Ellis, head of the women's athletic department, had inveigled Guy Lookabaugh, plunging halfback and member of the Olympic wrestling team, John Mason, quick quarter, Roy Doak, football scout, Ralph Higgins, halfback, and Charles Esslinger, quarter, to disport themselves in butterfly costumes.

It is said Miss Ellis' class is planning a public demonstration, perhaps at Maypole time next spring. It has been reported to the gridiron mentor that Lookabaugh has ordered a special costume consisting chiefly of gauze and a set of wings.

Doak is the only one who will talk about the course. "Why, it is supposed to give us suppleness," he says. Whether it does or not, it has at least given campus gossip a new topic.

VALENTINO BACK IN 'A SAINTED DEVIL' PARAMOUNT PICTURE

First it was Valentino in Booth Tarkington's "Monsieur Beaucaire." Now it's Rex Beach's "A Sainted Devil," adapted from the author's magazine serial, "Rope's End," by Forrest Halsey.

The same production staff that made "Monsieur Beaucaire" made this one—and made it even better than Valentino's previous production, which marked his return to the screen after an absence of two years. "A Sainted Devil" is a romance of South America—a story of Don Alonzo Castro (Valentino) and Julietta, his convent-trained wife, played by Helen D'Algy, who is stolen from him by bandits at the outset of the production, on their wedding night.

The star has the role of a handsome young planter who becomes the terror of the neighborhood, making friends with none, always waiting for his "day" when he will even up the score with the bandit who had deprived him of the one he loved best in the world.

It's a great story this—the best Valentino production to date by far. Nita Naldi, Louise Lagrange, Dagmar Godowsky, George Seismann and others play in support of the star. You haven't seen Rudolph Valentino until you've seen "A Sainted Devil." It opens today at the McSwain.

LAMONT.—The town board of Lamont has taken up the amusement business and now is conducting a roller skating rink. The rink is in the new community building and is open every night. Skates have been obtained by the board and are rented at a nominal fee.

MARY PHILBIN IN HER BEST DRAMA AT THE AMERICAN

Given a strange conflict of human loves and human motives, a spectacular locale in the glitter of London's Gaiety Music Hall, the Ritz, and the gilded cafes, as contrasted to the majestic somnolence of an ancient British castle, home of royalty, and its musty traditions, and Universal turned out a masterpiece. But of course—they had Mary Philbin, too. This is the formula for "The Gaiety Girl," latest starring vehicle of the little girl who leaped to meteoric fame almost over night in "Merry-Go-Round."

"Can she do it again?" wisecracked.

She did it—in "Fools Highway"—and now, in "The Gaiety Girl," under King Baggot's direction, eclipses both her former productions. The new picture, now showing at the American theater, shows a literally new Mary Philbin; a modern girl plunged in the heart of London's giddy whirl of pleasure, although sick at heart.

Plans are being made for the installation of a PBZ telephone switchboard on the University of Oklahoma campus.

BODY OF LABOR HEAD REACHES ST. LOUIS

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Dec. 15.—The train bearing the body of the late Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, to Washington and New York arrived in St. Louis from San Antonio, Texas, at 7:30 o'clock this morning about 15 minutes ahead of schedule.

At Parsons, Kan., the train was 25 minutes late having been delayed by the great crowds which wished to see the dead labor leader, but the lost time was made up during the night.

A vast concourse of persons in all walks of life greeted the train as it pulled into the union station here.

The coffin from its silk-cloaked catafalque was transferred to another observation car and attached to a Baltimore and Ohio train for Washington. This train is due to depart from St. Louis at 12:05 p. m. today.

People whose hens are laying now are in luck. Eggs retail at 60 cents in Ada and are often hard to get at that figure. I have found that we get about the same returns from our hens the year around. When eggs are plentiful the price is low and when they are scarce the higher price makes up for the difference, so things just about keep on an even keel.

PERSONS DRIVEN FROM HOMES
BY FIRE IN BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Six hundred persons were driven from their homes in Brooklyn by a fire in the storage building of the Borden Milk company two blocks from the home of Mayor Hylan. Five alarms calling all fire fighting departments in Brooklyn were turned in because of the danger of the flames spreading in the high wind. Police guards were thrown about three blocks near the blaze.
